

Olivar de la Luna

Organic Extra Virgin Olive Oil

Produced from the heritage Nevadillo Blanco olives that are indigenous to the Sierra de Cordoba, in the northern regions of Andalucia, Spain, this organic oil has a smooth texture with flavors of green olives, apples and almonds.

Olivar de la Luna oil is produced on a working family farm that has been organically cultivated since it was established in the 18th century. The farm specifically focuses on energy efficiency, biodiversity, and the recycling of all organic wastes back into the land. Olivar has been a model for their community, promoting more sustainable forms of agriculture and animal husbandry, and consistently fighting to protect the land for future generations.
